Interlingual Live Subtitling for Access: Mapping the ILSA Course

Centre for Translation Studies, University of Vienna
21 February 2019

Practitioners and educators in the fields of accessibility, audiovisual translation and interpreting studies are invited to join this event on interlingual live subtitling and speech-to-text interpreting as new ways of achieving access and barrier-free communication.

The programme will feature progress reports by members of the ILSA project group and presentations by educators and practitioners as well as a round-table discussion with specialists and stakeholder representatives.
